Lillian Russell
You Can't "Soar Too High"
I Am Morvich
A $60,000,000 Cut
By Arthur Brisbane

Overlook, June 7. — Lillian Russell is dead and upon her tomb might be written:
Here lies one that made the world happier by her talent, beauty and kindness.

Stipendiaries will be interested with the rest of America, in Miss Russell's career.
When this writer, aged 19, a reporter for Charles A. Dana's New York Sun, was sent to interview Lillian Russell at the Café Theatre, Miss Russell sat in her dressing room, nicely chaperoned by her mother, Mrs.
Cynthia Leonard. Mrs. Leonard said, "Young man, let Lillian be a lesson to you, if you ever get married. Before she was born I determined that she should be very beautiful and have a fine voice and I kept my mind on that all the time until she was born. Now look at her, and listen to her." It was advice easy to take.

Mothers of little girls still to be born will be interested in the determination and success of Lillian Russell's mother. Lillian Russell is one of five distinctly American stage personalities of the past half century—the other four being Mary Anderson, Blanche Madden Pike, Ada Re-han and Julia Marlowe.

Senator Lodge praises President Harding for "not soaring high." Poor printer Mr.
Harding won't thank him for it.
The man that never goes too far never goes far enough.
That's a true saying.
Nothing is disconcerting, except failing to try. A story that indicates H. B. Sol Worthen told yesterday to Abe Stein who had heard it, but listened potently. Please do the same.
A gentleman from Poland for the first time found himself outside a race track—without money to buy a ticket. A man with no ticket money said:
"I'm Morvich's trainer." He was admitted. Then Mor-vich's rubber, and his jockey and both went in with no ticket.
That was the case of the Polish gentleman. Walking up to the ticket taker he said: "I am Morvich himself." Not knowing that Morvich is a race horse, he did not get in, but he will have a good business for himself some day. He is not afraid to try.

Another cut in railroad wages.
This time 400,000 skilled workmen have $60,000,000 a year chopped from their wages.
A cut of 1 to 2 cents a day.
That's gratifying to railroad stock owners who feel that railroads exist, primarily, to pay dividends. That news was on last night's front page. The railroad people said, "Bright outlook for 'Katy'; operating income in 1921 largest in company history."

"Katy" is Wall Street's pet
name for the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad. That also is gratifying to stockholders.

The Government may hear more about these cuts at the next election, and then, again, it will not. Politicians rely on the old saying, "Workmen talk a good deal about elections, but line up in the old way on election day."

Not all wage news is bad. In New York the "Building Laborers" formerly called the Carriers, signed up for two years a seven dollars a day. A few years ago when Lillian Russell was singing at Tony Pastor's, her carriers got two dollars a day, and less. Which is better for a nation, and especially the next generation—seven dollars or two dollars a day to feed, clothe and house a workman and his family?

Science slowly, steadily works to diminish suffering. Only a little more than 300 years ago Edmund Macaulay, Scotch high rank, was buried alive on Castle Hill at Edinburgh. Her name was Miriam Anne Stimpson to help diminish her agony at birth of her twin sons, now doctors give chloroform occasionally and the mother isn't burned alive for taking it.
Only seventy-five years ago,
Simpson, young and beautiful, begging for permission to use chloroform in childbirth, was operated by a physician, who said he was trying to "avoid one part of the eternal curse on women."
They asked how he could justify his conduct. Biblically, the question that Mr. Simpson now puts to evolutionists. Simpson quoted Genesis, first verse, second chapter, saying:
"The record of the first surgical operation ever performed shows that the Maker of the universe, before He took the rib from Adam's side, caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam."
His disturbed religious mind, as a similar reply would disturb Mr. Bryan. Then the religious ones said: "Yes, but that was before the fall, before pain came into the world, and man was in a state of innocence."

This leads up to the interesting fact that science now identified on Page 3, Column 4.

RAILROADERS TO DEATH IN HEARING LASTING ONLY 40 MINUTES

Nine Republicans today crushed Boston hopes for lower fares during the present Legislature.

Ignoring the demands of 160,000 car riders the nine Republicans voted to strangle in the House Committee on Rules, three bills which would have given relief to Boston straphangers.

The bills were those drawn by the Boston American and the Mayor.

The House Committee on Rules railroaded the bills to defeat after a forty-minute hearing.

Irish Cardinal Sees 700-Year Hope of Liberty Ringing

Inglisford, Dunfries, Ireland, June 7 (By the Associated Press).—Cardinal Logue, Primate of Ireland, in a sermon here today said that for seven hundred years the Irish had been sighing for freedom, and it seemed within their grasp at last.

"Unfortunately, however," he continued, "owing to the folly of our own people, instead of taking what is likely to secure that great blessing, there is danger through dissension and division amongst ourselves of its slipping away altogether and of our being thrown back into the terrible state of chaos and confusion, in which the country has been for the past two or three years."

At the close of the hearing three members of the committee voted to adjourn the bills. They are Democrats. They are: EDWARD F. HARRINGTON, Fall River; ROLAND D. SAWYER, Ware; JOHN W. McORMACK, Boston.

The nine members whose votes strangled the bills are Republicans. Five of them do not live in Boston, and therefore, are not obliged to pay carfare to the Elevated. They are: VICTOR FRANCIS JEWETT, Lowell; HENRY ACHIN, Jr., Lowell; FRANK L. BRIER, Boston; MARTIN HAYES, Boston; DEXTER A. SNOW, Watfield; ESSEX S. ABBOTT, Haverhill; HENRY L. SHATTUCK, Boston; DAVID B. KENISTON, Boston; SAMUEL H. WRAGG, Needham.

The committee's vote means that the recent carfare bills will not reach the session of the Legislature as the time for filing bills is passed. The committee refused to expedite the rule.

While the committee on rules was crushing the hope of a five-cent fare at the session, the House passed a third reading a resolution directing the State Department of Public Utilities to make a complete investigation into transportation conditions.

TRAGEDY FAILS TO MAKE GIRL 'MAN HATER'

Kansas City, Mo., June 7.—"I have killed a man and the whole world seems to be asking the eternal 'Why?'"

Marie Peggy Beals, her black bobbed hair turning back, dark outlines for her head and sharply defined face, thus prefaced the first complete account of her reasons for slaying P. Warren Anderson, Kansas City clubman, her perfect lover.

"My own story, my past life and love, my most intimate affairs have become public property. I am something for a public holiday, the woman who kills."

"I have not turned man hater. One man's sin has not turned me against all men."

ALL MEN ARE ALIKE.

"But in the man I know so well, my perfect lover, I believe I have found the trait of all men since Adam."

"Warren was more daring, that is all."

"It is in all men to deceive. A woman can love but one man; a man can not love but one woman."

"I do not believe it is I who failed. I do not believe it is Warren's fault in the thousands upon thousands of unhappy heart affairs which fill volumes of newspaper space today."

"Whether it is the inborn spirit of man."

SOBS OVER HER BABIES.

"Some are cowards of their conscience. They are the 'good men' of every community. Others are like Warren." "

Much of the mystery of Peggy Beals' life was cleared today when she established she was born in Dayton, Ohio. She married at sixteen. Her husband was Stephen Beals, now married and living in Torrance, Calif. She is the sister of two sons, Louis and Stephen Jr.

When informed her boys had expressed their love for her and planned to write her, Mrs. Beals broke into tears and cried bitterly.

"I don't want my babies brought into this horrid affair," she said.

JACK PICKFORD ALMOST WEDS

Jack Pickford, brother of "Our Mary," and Marilyn Miller, co-star.

"Belly" was almost married. But not quite. Will Pickford is still sticking around, but with a smile and a "I really don't know" when quizzed as to the date of the ceremony.

The couple motored out to Bunkie, Tex., and ran plump into the annual frolic of the Women's Association. Though these gentlemen, as a class, are naturally shrinking and abhor the glare of publicity, they at once suggested that the time, the place and the girl were all at hand and—why not have the wedding now! And Jack echoed, "Eventually—why not now?"

But Miss Miller hesitated and then said "No," and so the wedding was called off—for the time being.

Little hints around the "Belly" company, though, are whispering that something important surely will happen before the end of the week. It is said that both are even up as to whether the star of "Belly" enters on the strength of the production as plain Marilyn Miller or Mrs. Jack Pickford.

Shortly afterwards Lieutenant McGowan, Sheriff Wenster and Raymond Hill, Westchester County press print expert, retired to the sheriff's office, Hill gathering his photographic equipment.

The package was about seven by eight inches in size, showed an uneven surface and may have contained a number of small articles. Lieutenant McGowan was one of the officers who searched the Ward home following the story of James Cunningham, known as "Jimmy the Bat."

Mr. Weeks refused to say if George S. Ward, father of young Ward, would be called tomorrow when the grand jury reconvenes.

Counsel for James J. Cunningham, whose story of a battle in the Ward home and the death of Peters and the slaying of another man there, caused his arrest as a material witness, has been unable to raise the $5,000 bail fixed for his release.

Relays Keep Youth Alive by Artificial Respiration

Grove City, Pa., June 7.—Relays of students from Grove City College continued artificial respiration today to keep alive Edwin Leslie, who is in a hospital at the point of death and paralyzed.

Monday afternoon Leslie climbed on the ventilating pipe at the college gymnasium swimming pool to make a high dive. The pool was not deep enough, and Leslie struck the concrete bottom head-first. Friends attempted resuscitation by means of artificial respiration.

For three hours this went on, and then Leslie was taken to the hospital, where it was continued night and day.

"A VIRGIN PARADISE"
Fox Production
Gratia Pearl White
Alan Robert Elliott
Ben Holt Alan Edwards
Story by Hiram Maxin.

By FRIDA DAVIS
FOUR reels of "A Virgin Paradise," at the Modern and Boston Theatres this week, are worth-while. The fifth, in which Pearl White manhandles the "heavy" in a way to make any self-respecting hero blush with shame, is worth the trouble of sitting through the first part. It is stupendous.

The story, written by the inventor of the Maxim silhouette, tells of a young girl who is brought up on an island with only lions and monkeys for company. She is found and brought to New York to take over the fortune left her, and there the hypocrisy of the world causes her her untold anguish until she finally decides to do something about it. She takes the villain by the hair and literally dangles him about the room, in which she has plenty of room for a good swing. There is, as I said, nothing to it but the fight.

THE SWEET MARRIAGE
Blanche Sweet and Marshall Nellan are to be married on Friday comes as no surprise to those interested in film matters. It has been a more or less well-known fact that they have been engaged for some time.

Nellan landed in New York last Thursday from his trip abroad and immediately got in touch with his fiancée, Miss Sweet, and is recovering from an illness of some months. He is on her way East alone, and the wedding depends on her arrival. It will surely take place on Friday, however.

LILLIAN GUSSEY PLANS
LILLIAN GUSSEY has been persistent rumors that Lillian Gish was on the eve of production plans on a large scale. Some said that she was planning to sail for France to star in a mammoth production of Joan of Arc. Others that she was leaving to star in an English picture.

The truth of the matter, however, is that she will star in a series of pictures to be made by independent company, but which will be under the direct supervision of David Wark Griffith, under whom she has done her best work. Beyond the fact that the plans are well under way, nothing has been said about her plans.

NORMA TALMADGE'S NEXT
NORMA TALMADGE's coming First National production will not be "The Miracle" after all. She has relinquished that to the play and will make a screen version of "The Voice in the Mirror" in which the English actress, Marie Lohr, appeared in New York this season.

Frances Marion is hard at work on the continuity and Frank Lloyd is all ready to take up his megaphone in the interests of the production. The cast has not yet been announced.

HENRY HULL ADDED
NO less a footlight favorite than Henry Hull has been added to the cast of the next Griffith picture, "At the Grange." Two others to sign up in the production are Morgan Wallace, who is becoming more or less of a fixture in Griffith's films, and Irma Harrison.

BETTY BLUTHIE, best known for her work as the Queen of Sheba in the Fox production of that name, has signed up to make five special pictures under the Whitman-Burnett banner. Miss Bluthie's first starring ve-

MAN HUNTERS FIND OFFICER GUARDING SAFE

A man hunt for a brother officer thought to be in distress, and search for a lost safe, figured in the activities of the riot squad of the Bostonville police today.

Patrolman Patrick J. Doolin found a safe-guarded safe at the Boylston Yards at the foot of Columbia street.

Fearing the activities of a gang of desperate safe robbers, the riot squad was dispatched to the scene at once, but not a trace of Patrolman Doolin nor the huge safe could be found.

For more than half an hour the squad, under the direction of Patrolman Crossman, scoured the vicinity without finding a trace of their fellow officer.

As time passed it appeared as if there was a desperate bandit gang operating in the neighborhood and that Patrolman Doolin had been done away with.

A hurried detail followed and Patrolman Doolin was found calm and collected guarding the safe on Windsor street—near the Cambridge line.

According to Mrs. Mary Manson of No. 317 Windsor street, several boys about sixteen years old rolled the safe from a Cambridge junk shop into the street and abandoned it there. It was empty at the time they took it from the junk shop.
The safe was taken to the police station, where it now awaits a claimant.

toll for the period from the first of London, June 7.—Eight wo-

Cambridge and other English universities, underwent a competitive examination today for a position in a London laundry, the question to consist of answering telephone inquiries.

The manager of the laundry, which is connected with a big hotel, recently advertised for "a courteous, even-tempered, patient gentleman, to answer telephone," and received more than 800 applications, which carries a salary of £250.

Nearly all the applicants pos-

$50,000 LOSS IN WORCESTER BLAZE

Worcester, June 7.—Fire, started by rats and matches in the basement of the Commercial Block, bounded by Main, Front and Commercial streets, and fronting on Front street, did more than $50,000 damage early today.

One fireman, Frank P. Kavanaugh, of hose cart No. 5, was cut by flying glass and removed to the City Hospital, where it was found that arteries in his right arm had been severed.

Only one person was in the building. He was Dr. Frederic R. Brown, a dentist, with offices on the third floor, who had worked late and spent the remainder of the night in his office. He was carried down to the pavement by firemen without injury.

The four-story brick structure is owned by Sylvester Z. Poll, theatrical producer and theater owner. A second alarm was turned in, sparks were endangering the adjoining buildings of Silver Company, department store, and the Plaza Hotel, also owned by Mr. Poll.

The flames apparently started in the basement near the foot of the elevator shaft and spread rapidly until they burst through the roof.

On the first floor the Newark shoe store was wrecked by water and smoke, and the police threw a guard about that place and the Jewelry Mart, in the next store, the windows of which were broken by the high pressure water streams.

King Victor Calm in Death Peril; Auto Driver Collapses.

Roma, June 7.—King Victor Emmanuel narrowly escaped death when his automobile was grazed by a train on a grade crossing near Anzio. The driver put on full speed and shot across the tracks just ahead of the train.

This King, least concerned of any of his party by the near tragedy, complimented the chauffeur, who was so unharmed, that he could not continue at Anzio and returned to the wheel. The King was on his way to Palermo to inaugurate the new harbor improvements.

KING ORDERS GUARD AT BELFAST HOSPITAL
London, June 7.—A message sent by the Mother Superior of the Mater Infirmaria in Belfast to King George, informing him of the attack on the institution at a time when the streets were occupied by Crown forces, resulted in a military guard being stationed at the hospital today, says a dispatch from Belfast to the Evening Star.

This prompt action has given great satisfaction to the Catholic population of the city and also to the mained patients of the institution. The Mother Superior was quoted as saying:

"So the only thing for us girls to do was to burl our hair. We had Betty Egan, of No. 15 Erie place, West Roxbury, one of our most enthusiastic radio fans.
And Miss Alice Donovan, of No. 15 Pleasant avenue, Somerville, says she has learned a lot, and "maybe" she'll get here hobbied.

GAINNA WALSKA IS DIVORCED BY COCHRAN

New York, June 7.—Mrs. Ganna Walska, Polish opera singer, is free to wed her matrimonial arid solo, according to Paris advices today.

The report is that her husband, Alexander Smith Cochran, has been granted a divorce in which the singer has agreed to withdraw her threatened counter action. A financial settlement is said to have been part of the decree, which was handed down about a fortnight ago, the papers being signed and sealed last Friday.

The Paris report has it that Mr. Cochran settled $200,000 on Mrs. Walska. This is less than half of what Mrs. Walska asked last October, six months after the separation.

The report does not make clear the grounds upon which Mr. Cochran obtained the divorce. The court said he would contest the legality of Mrs. Walska's divorce from her first husband, Captain Archibald Elphinstone, of the Russian army, in 1914, who was killed on the Polish front in that year.

After the singer became the bride of Dr. Joseph Fraebel of New York, who died within a few months after the marriage.
Reports were current in Chicago last month that the singer would marry Harold F. McCormick, whose wife, the daughter of John D. Rockefeller, recently divorced him.

BITTER FIGHT EXPECTED OVER SITE OF NEW POLICE STATION AT SEARS AND MILK STREETS! THIS site was one of the pets of Mayor Peters. He selected the location and his architect drew up plans. Now comes Mayor Curley, who, through a bit of irony, presents an order to the City Council for a $500,000 bond issue to start the construction work on the building. Mayor Curley, in his message to the Council, says Police Commissioner Wilton insists upon a site and that nothing remains but for him to graciously carry out the plans of the last administration. Several council members, however, are known to be opposed to the project.

SLUTHS UNITE WAR GRAFTERS IN EUROPE

Washington, June 7 (By International News Service).—A number of government agents have been sent abroad to round up men wanted in the investigation of war contracts frauds and who fled the country some months ago, it became known today.

The special Grand Jury now sitting in the capitol continued its deliberations today behind a mantle of secrecy protected by the government's attorneys.

Information as to whether an indictment had been issued against John Lewis Phillips, millionaire Georgia lumberman and chairman of the Republican State Committee, is still withheld, although Phillips is at liberty on $25,000 bail following his arrest on a warrant issued by the Department of Justice.

The new division of accounting investigation, created by Attorney General Daugherty, with James L. Quinn of New York in charge, will begin to function in a few days, it was said today.

Meanwhile, Attorney General Daugherty was attacked from a new quarter today. Dan Rutherford, Republican in Congress from Alaska, who assisted Daugherty's recently announced campaign against the "Alaska fishery pirates" in a communication to the department, Rutherford said the "arrogant, selfish and envious pirates" are not located in Alaska, "but in Chicago, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco, etc.," and that if the courts will punish these it will lead to a more wholesome respect for laws by all citizens in Alaska.

On the Screen

This Day in Our History—June 7, 1922

THIS is the anniversary of the starting out, in 1755, of General Braddock, on his march against Fort Duquesne. He was badly defeated and the remnants of his force saved only by the skill of George Washington, serving with him as an aide.

What Would YOU Do?

If you were beautiful, young, Remember Steddon, a Massachusetts minister's daughter, whose sweetheart died before the wedding, would you try to bring up your baby among those who knew you in your own home town? Or would you run away for a fresh start with new surroundings? If you had your living to make, would you try to get into the movies? Dr. Brethrick, the family physician, advised Remember to go to California. This she did, winning her parents a fictitious tale of having married and lost her husband. She is thrown in with a movie company, and Tom Holby, leading man, gets her a chance. This struggle of a young girl to work out her own salvation is strikingly told in Rupert Hughes' greatest novel. Go on with the story.

SHE looked like a cheap chronicle of somebody else.

"There's two things you'll learn about the business," if you stay in it," said Lavin. "You've got to get up at an ungodly hour and get your coat making ready on time. And then you've got to sit around for hours and hours and hours and then you've got to sit around for half the time they don't reach you all day. And most of the actors you're in are in the line of the final picture. Otherwise it's a life hell."

And now that her horse were stuffed with paint which it was dangerous to touch with a handkerchief, Men had the task of waiting while the hot sun beat down the great drops of sweat to her skin and the blown sand kept up an incessant rattling.

In the distance, in the relative tranquillity of the air, the principals of the company danced before a group of cameras a drama that Men could not understand. The camera dived slowly, then collapsed back and forth, and again and again there were long arguments the director and his assistant dashed back and forth, trumpeting through their megaphones.

The camera alone revealed itself to the temptress. They began to fight one another. At the end of two dragged their terrified passengers hither and yonder and over a camera. One of them rolled and dumping his boyfriend, got clean away.

Lavin explained to Men what all the potter was about.

board benches containing sandwiches wrapped in oiled paper, a bit of dried chicken, hard-boiled eggs, a piece of cake and a California fruit—apple, a pear, grapes, figs, a banana, or an orange.

There was a cordon of coffee for those that wanted it hot, cold, tea, and bottles of pop.

Men had never been on a better fed picnic. The women and men sat on the ground and ate, surrounded by fruit and refreshment. Some of the jokes were blushing flying about the faces of the girls.

There was a great spirit in this company that Men had never met. The gayer was irresistible, and she managed to control her horse when she found that she was alone the only woman who refused a cigarette.

The principal had their refreshment taken to them, and watched it between scenes. Robins did not seem to be in the least disturbed by the eternal heat, since she had to fight a smothering tendency to sleep.

"How you standing?" he called up to her. "All right, thank you."

Of vast interest there was vast interest in her from now on. The leading man had seated out the extra woman for special attention, and the group went round with a rush as of wings.

Men did not know that she was already a public property. She would have said from a plague if she had known. Later she would come to realize that these people loved to believe the worst, for she did, and she was in the forefront of the crowd.

The director made the extra together and addressed them from his horse.

"Ladies and gentlemen, you are supposed to be an Arabian tribe driven from your homes by the great enemy."

Robins did not seem to be in the least disturbed by the eternal heat, since she had to fight a smothering tendency to sleep.

Stops Pain Instantly

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in two formulas—colorless, clear liquid (one drop does it) and extra thick plastic (the whichest form you prefer, plaster or the liquid—the action is the same).

FINANCE AND BUSINESS

By B. C. Forbes

Rich men often warn their sons that it is harder to keep money than to make it.

Unfortunately, thousands of men and women, not rich, have learned very painfully how easy it is to lose their savings.

It is not time to tell of all the ways in which authority or any influence is luring ourselves to stop the whole, and leaving of innocent persons of their savings.

The principal robbers of this kind are the scheming brokers, promoters and salesmen who dangle before the unwary glimmering "investment" securities and bonds which, the makers very solemnly declare, are sure to make rich every person who has in intelligence enough to buy them.

It is against this class of swindlers that all honest organizations and individuals should be the most vigorous warfare.

Unless banking associations, regular stock exchanges, and high-grade investment houses make greater headway than they have made in fighting this nationwide evil, the public is certain to continue to be misled by the most drastic action by lawmakers, Federal and State.

I recently dined in this column how the banks of Florida rid that of this class of swindlers.

Today let me present to you, the very effective steps being taken by a wide-awake Chamber of Commerce.

The Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce issued cardboard posters, to be displayed prominently in all business places, stores, etc., reading:

THE HARRISBURG CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

SAVE YOUR SAVINGS

Only banks and trust companies are authorized to handle your money. Do not let anyone else handle your money.

Before investing—investigate. It will cost you nothing and may save you much. The stock market is a man in a hurry to get out. Ask the superintendent, ask your bank, ask the Chamber of Commerce, ask the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce.

Once an honest, impartial report. Any of these agencies will help you and there is no charge.

Should not the Chamber of Commerce of the United States make it its business to induce every citizen to save his money in the banks and to do this same thing?

After a day of mixed trading, a noticeable rally came in the last hour in New York.

The merger steels were noticeable with their first upward movement several days. Midvale, Lackawanna and Republic all lifted from even one to three points, but were only again sent into bullish activity.

New York Dock, Brooklyn Union Gas, Consolidated Gas, Consolidated Fruit, Penn. Coal, Coston, West. Union, and others, Indian, Hefling, Superior Oil and White Eagle made highs for the current year.

CALL MONEY EAST.

With the market looking weak, nearly all trades in stocks were in the first hour of the afternoon. Among those which were exceptions, showing fractional gains, were Industrial Alcohol, Southern Railway, Midvale, Pierce-Arrow, Chandler and Corn Products.

At the same time Standard Oil of New Jersey had received $100,000 from the United States Treasury, the New York district controller, John H. Shults, General Electric and others.

Call money opened at 14 per cent, the first hour of the afternoon. It was then 15 per cent, and by 2:30 it had risen to 16 per cent.

Any looseness or irregularity in early trading was due to special reasons connected with the market, and not to any general movement of the country as a whole.

ADVANCES EXPECTED.

The professional bulls maintain some sections of the market, notably the railroads, and some of the other stocks, and are said to keep up with developments in their line and to be in a position to make a rally.

Consolidated Gas, rising to its highest point since the beginning of the year, was the only stock to advance in the first hour of the afternoon.

Legislature Should Act Now on 5-Cent Fare

To Close Session Without Dealing With Fare Problem Would Be to Shirk a Great Duty

The most pressing demand made upon the Legislature this year is to act on the 5-cent fare.

In the brief space of forty-eight hours 100,000 people signed the petition distributed by the Boston American. The size of that demand has no parallel here. We doubt if such proportions ever were reached in any city in this country. We can state this with authority because our readers know we have always been active in the past to ascertain the will and sentiment of the public.

There may be honest differences of opinion in the community as to how the reduction can best be obtained, but there is not one shred of doubt that the sentiment that something should be done, and ought to be done at this session of the Legislature, is very nearly unanimous.

The petition was addressed to Governor Cox, President Allen of the Senate, Speaker Young of the House and to the members of the Senate and House because the remedy lies in their hands alone. Nothing that the Mayor of Boston or the trustees of the adjoining cities and towns or the public officials of the road can do will result in reducing the fares to the point demanded by the public. The situation can be adjusted alone by the officials at the State House. They could do it within forty-eight hours.

There is a disposition on the part of members to close their session and to return to their homes. To abandon this work, in the face of this popular demand for action, would be an unnecessary and unfortunate shirking of their duty.

The public servant bears the same relationship to public sentiment as the clerk to the merchant. They are sent to the State House to do the work which the people themselves would do if they had the time and convenience to assemble publicly to transact the public business. What the people would do in this situation, it is very evident for them to assemble, and what they want the legislators to do is very evident.

We feel that we are in a satisfactory position to give the members this advice without seeming to become a public nuisance. It is true their work is arduous. The heat of the summer is here. They are not overpaid for their attendance. They will remember that in times past we, almost alone, have advocated a remuneration for them that would fully compensate them. The fact is plain that when they offered themselves for election to the Senate and House they agreed with the people to remain at their task, no matter how arduous it might prove to be. In other words, they agreed that they made a contract which they can ill afford to break.

There can be no great difficulty in designing and enacting legislation which will reduce the fares. Governor Cox has stated in the news columns of the paper that no one would be more ready than he to see fares reduced at this session and that he has been at work to ascertain the actual condition of the road. President Allen of the Senate has already stated to the House a program of legislation which, he said, would reduce the fare to 5 cents by August 1.

Mayor Curley has placed a concrete proposal before the Mayor. Mr. Phinney has presented some suggestions that would relieve the situation in Hyde Park. Mr. Driscoll has an interesting proposal to reduce fares for children in the summer months. The Street Railways Committee has already devoted some work which, it expects, will unify the lines in the Metropolitan District.

We have filed bills which we believe express the will of 100,000 people who signed the petition. Certainly the sum total of these efforts present at least one solution to the Legislature.

One of the bills filed by the Boston American provides for complete public ownership and the immediate restoration of the 5-cent fare. Public ownership would save the car riders an excess of $1,000,000 a year in the system alone. The public can always "buy" money at a better rate than any private organization. With the public in complete control of the system, they then could undertake all the interesting improvements which the public would like to see made and operate the lines at the best in the country.

The experience of public ownership has been improved service at lower rates. San Francisco, with its publicly owned lines, is the only 5-cent system in the big cities of the country. Its service is splendid and the wages and working conditions enjoyed by its employees are not excelled in this country.

There has been much interesting enabling legislation proposed which the Legislature could pass without delay and which would materially reduce the fares. Subway rentals could be remitted. They amount to $20,000,000 a year and are now paid entirely by the car rider, although he does not alone derive the benefits of the subway system.

If the cars that run through the subway every day were placed back on the narrow streets of Boston the transaction of ordinary business would be impossible. The merchant would find himself unable to carry on his trade. His store would be isolated by the congestion. The autoist would find it impossible for him to drive through the streets, either for business or for pleasure. The pedestrian would find the going difficult and dangerous. The home owner would find his investment impaired. Yet the car rider alone now pays this entire cost. The subways are underground streets and ought to be financed in the same way the public maintains its surface highways.

In the same manner the car rider now pays the cost of the tracks, although that space is used by the autoist and the pedestrian. He pays the cost of snow clearance in the winter and yet we all know that the truck and team always find it the easiest to drive through the path broken and paid for by the rider.

There are numerous other savings that could be accomplished. With fares reduced the volume of traffic would increase. The remission of these burdens now borne by the rider should be granted during the period of public control. We believe the public will never let the grip they now have on the road, but we have always felt that there are selfish interests which desire to keep the road back into their own hands to profit from the rebuilding which the public have done to the road.

We must guard ourselves against them. They are alert to their own interest. The people who suggest that the road be returned to them is a menace to the community. He is playing their game.

Public ownership would solve the entire question. We urge it.
